

THE LAY OF THE LAND

The Big Blue Mint Eater had Rugburns on his Knees. The Big Blue Mint Eater had come to see the Lay of the Land on a Mountain Top, and he showed his Knees to her. The Lay of the Land did not think it Fair, because she did not have any Rugburns at all. The Knees of the Big Blue Mint Eater were Red and Raw. The Lay of the Land gave the Big Blue Mint Eater a Bandage for his Knees. The Big Blue Mint Eater held the Bandage between his Fingers. The Lay of the Land asked the Big Blue Mint Eater where he got his Rugburns and How. Her eyes grew wide as he told her in his Child's Voice. She had to find this Place. The Big Blue Mint Eater satisfied her that Night in a Movie Theatre. She took him to a Barn and gave him a Mud Bath. The Farmer found her in the Morning after Breakfast. He brought her into the House and gave her Rugburns.

BIG BLUE MINT EATER

George Washington was covered in Gore. Then he lay Silent in the Grave 100 years. The Brick Fence surrounding the Small Yard was Eaten in Places by moss. The moss was Brown & Green. The Brick Fence fell apart. He noticed his Eyes were open. He fed on what he thought were Mashed Cranberries in his Box. He felt ill all the Time. There were Trees over him, which he could not see. He knew they were there, because he heard their Leaves when there was a Breeze. He knew he was awake. He could hear the Birds from 6 Feet under the Earth. The Birds came away and returned from the Sky at Leisure. And nearby there was a House. It had a Nifty front yard with a couple trees in it. The house was white. Autumn leaves were falling all around the neighborhood. The Autumn Leaves fell in the Churchyard. There were dead leaves of magnificent color on the Roof of the House. The leaves fell with wonderful grace. They settled in the Brown Grass. Some of the Leaves got stuck on the Wall of the House. A Cat was kept in the House. The Cat was Shedding. The doorbell Rang. The Cat did not answer the Door. The Door was unlocked. The Big Blue Mint Eater came in. The Cat made Coffee on its hind Legs for the Big Blue Mint Eater. The Big Blue Mint Eater pet the Cat. They played with the Water Hose in the Back Yard. The Cat Sprayed Cold Water all over the Big Blue Mint Eater's Back. The Big Blue Mint Eater impregnated the Cat on the Trampoline later in the Day. The Sun Smiled down at them. The Shrubbery in the Yard was made of Plastic. The Grass was Green behind the House. It was Easter Basket Grass. The Neighbors watched the Cat and the Big Blue Mint Eater from their Patio. The Chicken-Pire came over and Raided the Fridge while the Cat was outside with the Big Blue Mint Eater. The Neighbors had sent the Chicken-Pire there. The Chicken-Pire slept in Mama Bear's Bed. The Chicken-Pire shaved with Papa Bear's Razor. The Chicken-Pire ate the Dogfood from the Dog Dish. The Chicken-Pire smoked Cigarettes with Dracula. Dracula showed the Chicken-Pire his Scar. The Scar was on Dracula's Upper Thigh. The Chicken-Pire was Turned On by it. Dracula turned off the Lights. Only their Cigarettes were seen in the Dark. Dracula's eyes became as Flashlights. He came to Bed with the Chicken-Pire. Their Cigarettes set off the Smoke Detector. It Screamed at them. Dracula became very Angry at the Smoke Detector. George Washington came over with the Boogansville County Fire Department. George Washington burned the House Down. George Washington found the Garbage Sack Unicorn in the Garage while he was Burning the House down. George Washington lifted the Glass Mask from his Fireman's Helmet and Engaged the Garbage Sack Unicorn in a game of Scrabble. But The Garbage Sack Unicorn had no

Patience. George Washington refused to end the Game before it was finished. The Garbage Sack Unicorn had no Choice but to Continue playing. "Try, Damn You!" said George Washington. The Garbage Sack Unicorn tried the Very Best it could. It had no Choice. It was trapped by George Washington. The Garbage Sack Unicorn came up with the Word, "Sloppypusopotamus." The Garbage Sack Unicorn won the Game with it. George Washington was very angry when he Lost, and he Squirted the Garbage Sack Unicorn with his big Hose. George Washington stood in front of the Rubble of the Smoldering House with his Friends. George Washington's Friends were Good Americans. They roasted Marshmallows in the Fire. They threw the Garbage Sack Unicorn into the Fire. The Garbage Sack Unicorn Screamed and Cried and Carried on and Declared that it would have its Vengeance on George Washington with its Last Dying Breathe, which was full of Ashes. George Washington threw Mr. Potato Head in the fire. George Washington picked a Large Snail up from the Ground. He threw it in the Fire. The Snail whined about it. Then it Crackled and popped. A Great Butterfly that had a Teddy Bear head came out of the Snail Shell. It belonged in the Zoo. The Butterfly with the Bear head fluttered around George Washington. Its Insides were made of Burnt Toast. The Butterfly with the Bear head went out across the river, which lay beyond the Churchyard. The Butterfly with the Bear head went to a place which all present were Uncertain of. When the County Justice Jack Mitchell learned of the Fire, he was very concerned as to how it had been Caused. He was suspicious that there had been some Foul Play. George Washington had started the fire with his own matches and a Bottle of Whiskey. The County Justice was uncertain of this. He wanted to make sure that George Washington had used Good Whiskey.

General Wooster showed George Washington how to Smoke Newspaper at the Kitchen Table. They went to the Train Station. They went to Willy Wong's.

Willy Wong had a Wet Doghead in a Sack. General Wooster ordered the Frog Quiche from Willy Wong. George Washington ordered the Coconut Pork. It was time then to make Coconut Pork. Willy Wong tackled Miss Piggy when she made her way for the Door. She had come to Willy Wong's for a few Drinks and to watch the Girls. Willy Wong tore her pearl Necklace off and laid her up on the Table. She smoked and screamed and Carried on. Miss Piggy reached out to George with her White Gloves. George Washington pulled one of her White Gloves off and kept it. Willy Wong sprinkled Coconut shavings all over her. He used the Pearls as a Garnish. George Washington's eyes grew Wider. She fought until she was dead and Charred. "Wait a minute!" George said, "This isn't Coconut Pork; this is Coconut Piggy!"

George Washington didn't want anyone to eat Coconut Piggy. He was Disgusted. He stood up and Dumped his Whiskey all over her burnt white Dress. He decided to go to Philadelphia and find John Adams.

RUGBURN

George Washington rested at home then. There was a knock at the door. George Washington came and answered the door. There was a beautiful Woman there. "Can you help me? I'm all alone and my car broke," she said. "Can I stay with you tonight?"

George Washington wished very much for the woman to stay, so he let her in. George Washington had a room prepared for her. He showed her to her room and said that dinner would be ready in 30 minutes. George Washington went away then to get his butcher knife. He dressed himself in his best smoking jacket.

The Woman undressed herself in the bedroom. She took off her face. This Revealed a Dog's Head underneath. Her name was Doghead. She was a Secret Agent. Doghead panted and slobbered in front of the mirror. Her eyes were yellow. Doghead got into the shower. Willy Wong would never find her here. She had Escaped him at present. Willy Wong would not have her on his dinner table. But George Washington might.

Secret Agent John Coward entered Doghead's Room. He searched through all of her things while she was in the Shower. John Coward found flea powder. He also discovered a complicated map of the Area.

George Washington discovered John Coward in Doghead's Room. He demanded to know what his business was and then brought him out into the yard. The Schoolchildren had come over for a Game of Touch Football. George Washington displayed Excellent Leadership Skills as Quarterback against the Inner City Children. George Washington's team lost for most of the Game, but he refused to Ever Give Up. Near the End of the Game, by changing the Rules, and with Guerilla tactics, and by Injuring some of the Key Members of the Opposition, George Washington's team at Last Won.

George Washington then gained much Popularity as a Hero. His face was made of Steel now. When George Washington died later in the Day, he was stored for a Short time in the Refrigerator. He met the Leftovers that lived in Tupperware. They were a Week Ancient. George Washington had a Pleasurable experience in the Ice Cube Tray. He fell into a Bag of Frozen Peas.

George Washington grew Concerned that all was lost in the Bag of Peas, but he managed to make Friends here. He found General Wooster in a Bottle of Ketchup. General Wooster left the Refrigerator with George Washington.

WOOSTER & THE DOLPHIN

General Wooster drove his Sherman Tank through the Wrought Iron Gate of the Churchyard. General Wooster parked Mr. Dicky beside a Tomb and stepped out. General Wooster decided he should kick over some Headstones. He did so, and he received Great Pleasure by this. Some of them Broke in half, and others broke into Smaller pieces, and some fell Straight back when he Kicked them. General Wooster Kicked over the Headstone of the Mayor of Boogansville, and this caused some of the Dirt to fall into a Hollow Space which lay beneath it. From the Hollow Space there emerged a Dolphin. The Dolphin nibbled on General Wooster's nose and made silly Noises. The Dolphin presented General Wooster with a Fake Beard. General Wooster accepted the Fake Beard and wore it over his Privates. Richard Flex came out of General Wooster's Privates. After untangling himself from the Fake Beard, Richard Flex tripped over a Rock and fell into the Mayor's Open Grave, from which the Dolphin had Emerged. General Wooster and the Dolphin Smoked a Cigarette Together. The Dolphin held its Cigarette in a Nub on the Tip of its Dorsal Fin. The Dolphin had just shaved off its 5 O'clock Shadow. General Wooster decided that he and the Dolphin should Swim in the Boogansville River Together. General Wooster put on his Bathing Suit and walked to the Water with his Dolphin Friend. They walked Hand in hand. But the Dolphin could not keep up with General Wooster. The Dolphin used its Tail Fin as Feet. General Wooster became Fed Up, and he let the Dolphin Tag along behind. The Dolphin followed General Wooster to an Oak Tree, who's Branch reached out over the Water. General Wooster climbed the Oak Tree, and the Dolphin climbed up after him with a Chainsaw. The Dolphin was a Well-intentioned Dolphin. It had the Chainsaw because the Chainsaw was the only thing the Dolphin owned. General Wooster met the Dolphin on the Oak Tree Branch. The Dolphin made more Squeaky noises at General Wooster and was very Cute. It nibbled his nose. General Wooster, always the Good Sport, grabbed the Dolphin and threw it into the River far Below. It Squealed all the way down until it Splashed in the Water. Then the Dolphin was run over by a Speedboat. General Wooster came down from the Tree then and picked up the Chainsaw, which had washed onto the Riverbank. General Wooster wiped off the Chainsaw and cut down the Oak Tree with it. The Oak tree fell into the Water.

BOOGANSVILLE JUSTICE

The County Justice crossed the District in his Stationwagon. The County Justice arrived at the Boogansville Cracker Shack. The Whore of Boogansville lived there. She let him in and the County Justice banged his Gavel hard against the Kitchen Table. The County Justice drank Booze and Ate Eggs in the Boogansville Cracker Shack. They were Easter Eggs. There were Toads inside the Eggs. The Toads hopped out and got all over his hands and in his Pockets and down his Pants. This Tickled the Justice. The Justice took some Chocolate and Fed it to the dog. This gave the dog Very bad Gas. And every time the dog farted, it had to blame it on the other dog now, because it was so Embarrassed. The Whore of Boogansville, tall and bony, scolded her other dog when the other dog Farted, because it smelled even worse than her Ass did. The Other Dog totally got away with it, and the Other Dog was sent out of the Boogansville Cracker Shack for the entire Afternoon. The County Justice continued on his way after he had eaten the Eggs and drank the Booze. He could not do the Whore of Boogansville to any Satisfaction because he had had his dick Chopped off with a Pair of Scissors when he was in Preschool earlier in the Day. He'd needed it for Show and Tell. And Now when the Whore of Boogansville Serviced her Customers, the Other Dog Farted and stank. She did not Realize her Mistake because she was the Whore of Boogansville. The Big Blue Mint Eater had taken the Cat to Breathing Lessons for their Baby. When they found out the House had been burned down, the Cat realized it was in big Trouble. The Cat met Mama & Papa Bear at the Police Station with her Big Blue Mint Eater. Mama & Papa Bear smoked Cigarettes and drank Coffee with the Cat. The Police Officers were Grateful because the Cat made some Coffee for them, too. It was Cowboy Coffee. The Cat used Eggshells to make the Coffee Grounds sink to the Bottom of the Frying Pan. Chief Justice Jack Mitchell came in. He took a Shit. He Shat out Booze and Eggs. It burned his Ass. Jack Mitchell took a Statement from the Big Blue Mint Eater. The Big Blue Mint Eater said that life was a Piece of Shit on a Paper Plate. Jack Mitchell Agreed. Mama & Papa Bear did not want the Big Blue Mint Eater to be part of their Family. The Big Blue Mint Eater said he thought their Cat was "Really Great," in his Statement to Jack Mitchell. Jack Mitchell asked the Sheriff to get him a Coke.

THE CINEMA

George Washington convinced the Grizzly Bear to hide under the Bed with him, when Dracula was not Looking. They did so. The Good Americans pounded on the Front door of the House with their Cannon. General Wooster wanted to Bring the Bear away and show it to his Mother. There was a Movie Theatre under the Bed. George Washington watched a Film with the Grizzly Bear. The Grizzly Bear would not Stop Yawning. The Grizzly Bear stretched its Big Beastly arms and blocked everyone's View that way. The Movie was Home-Made. George Washington and a Bald Eagle shared a Bottle of Whiskey in the Movie. The Bald Eagle was Mad at George Washington for Chugging more than his Fair Share. George Washington got Mad at the Eagle and chased the Eagle all over the Garage, in the Movie. Feathers were Everywhere. How Now Brown Cow and her Cattle Friends busted down the Door of the Stone House where the Grizzly Bear was Hidden. How Now Brown Cow came to the Refrigerator. She opened it and saw that it was full of Frozen Beef. How Now Brown Cow was extremely Pissed Off. How Now Brown Cow discovered George Washington under the Bed with the Grizzly Bear. Her eyes were Yellow and Angry. How Now Brown Cow and her Friends had Driven the Good Americans from the House. How Now Brown Cow laid down the Law for George Washington. The Grizzly Bear said Hello to How Now Brown Cow. The Bear put its Arm around George Washington Jealously. George Washington decided it was time to Leave Philadelphia. General Wooster went to a Strip Joint and Smashed his Head in with a Bottle of Night Train after he had been Beaten by the Cattle. Dracula came in looking for his left arm. He found Igor there. Igor had Rugburns on his Knees. Dracula confronted General Wooster about this. General Wooster Tore off Dracula's Right Arm and threw it across the Room.

GRIZZLY BEAR

A great big Grizzly Bear was hiding in a bush. He saw George Washington and revealed himself. He gave George Washington a great big Bear hug and Slobbered all over him. George Washington did refute the Bear by taking off his shoe and smacking the Bear across the face with it. The Bear attempted to run away. He had now seen the Ferocity of George Washington. But the Bear was not quick enough. George Washington climbed upon his back. George Washington smacked the Grizzly Bear on the back of his Head with his shoe. The Grizzly Bear at last Escaped George Washington and hid in a Big Stone House. General Wooster and some other Good Americans Surrounded the House in the Fog. They could not break down the Door. It was too Heavy and Thick. George Washington found his way into the Bathroom of the House. When George Washington arrived at the Bathroom he found Christopher Marlowe sitting in the Bathroom sink. The Bathtub was half full of Cherry Kool-Aid. A tall black Top Hat floated on the Cherry Kool-Aid. A Fake Beard and a Fuzzy Facial Mole floated beside the Top Hat. Christopher Marlowe's face was Blue. He was very Scared. The Window was open. "Has something gotten into the house?" asked George Washington. Christopher Marlowe gave No Reply to this. He simply stared at the Window. George Washington went to the Window and put his hand on the Sill. The window Sill was covered with Blood. George Washington's Coat and Hands were covered with Blood. George Washington continued about his business. The Grizzly Bear came over and banged on the Bathroom Door to get in. The Grizzly Bear growled and Roared. George Washington opened the Door for the Grizzly Bear. The Grizzly Bear came in and drank some of the Cherry Kool-Aid from the Bathtub. The Ceiling opened up and Dracula floated down in a Rain of Confetti. He wore a Tuxedo. Dracula was Missing his Left Arm. Dracula Searched everywhere for it. Dracula was very Upset. He had been in a Barfight. Some One had yanked his Left Arm off and Thrown it a Great Distance.

INFLATABLE SWIMMING POOL

How Now Brown Cow always had the Best of Intentions. Her Udder was Ever-Filled with Milk. But she had been Digested and Tossed in the Dumpster. How Now Brown Cow was exhausted and she rested her Chin on a Garbage sack. She was met there by Chief Justice Jack Mitchell. He offered to Help her out of the Trash and Hose her down. How Now Brown Cow agreed this was a Good Idea. Jack Mitchell, however, demanded some Milk in Return for this. She decided it was only fair, and agreed to let him have Some of her Milk. Jack Mitchell Helped How Now Brown Cow from the Trash. Jack Mitchell then went away and got his Happy Mug. When he returned to How Now Brown Cow, she stood for him on her Hind Legs, and he squeezed a Full glass of Milk from her Udder. Then Jack Mitchell sipped some of the Milk in front of her and remarked that it was Delicious. He left her there without acting on his Promise to Hose her down. How Now Brown Cow realized she had been Fooled yet again. A Peach Colored Garbage Sack had followed How Now Brown Cow from the Dumpster. The Peach Colored Garbage Sack had a Friendly Face, and it offered to spray How Now Brown Cow with the Water Hose. How Now Brown Cow admired the Peach Colored Garbage Sack's Eyes and Teeth. She decided to allow the Peach Colored Garbage Sack to do as it Wished. The Peach Colored Garbage Sack went and got the Hose. When it Returned, it Sprayed Cold Water all over How Now Brown Cow. Then the Peach-Colored Garbage Sack demanded that How Now Brown Cow supply it with some Milk as Payment. How Now Brown Cow Squirted Milk all over the Peach Colored Garbage Sack, and did so in Great Abundance. The Peach Colored Garbage Sack was very Satisfied. It was Covered in Little White Speckles. The Little White Speckles dried slowly in the Sun. How Now Brown Cow pulled off all of her Skin and hung it on the Clothesline. How Now Brown Cow sat in a Lawn Chair. The Peach Colored Garbage Sack sat next to her. How Now Brown Cow was Totally Exposed. She watched the Little Children play in an Inflatable Swimming Pool, which had a Cat Head on it. The Children splashed and had much Fun in the Kitty Pool. The Kitty Pool shook and Endured their Rough Treatment behind Cap'n John Smith's Necessary House. The Black spots on How Now Brown Cow's Skin bled and Ran all over the White Spots, so her Skin became a Mess while it hung on the Clothesline. The Breeze blew against it and made the Skin much like Dried Tanned Leather. How Now Brown Cow was pleased when she Saw her Sirloin Tip go into the Kitty Pool. The Sirloin Tip took hold of one of the Feet of the Children. The Sirloin Tip refused to let go. That Child Was Andrew Jackson, and he would never Forget it. How Now Brown Cow was very Satisfied behind Cap'n John Smith's Necessary House. The Garbage Sack sat next to her on the Grass and did Nothing.

ALGAE

The Sheriff stepped outside. There was a Pink Pig. The Pig came over to lick the Sheriff's Boot, which had Slop on it. The Sheriff wanted to Scratch the Pig with his Rake, but the Rake had been Reserved for George Washington. George Washington was not there, but if George Washington ever found out he Scratched his Pig with the Rake, he knew for certain there would be dire consequences. George Washington would Most Certainly chop his head off and Flush it down the Toilet. So the Sheriff did not Scratch the Pig with the Rake. The Chesapeake Bay was right next Door. The Sheriff looked at it. There was a Red Whale in it. It waved its Fin at the Sheriff and Spat water into the Sky. A Large Ocean Liner sailed past and it Cut the Red Whale in Half. It was Disgusting. There was an Alligator on board the Ocean Liner. It covered its Eyes because it could not Stand the Sight. It was Horrible. George Washington, however, would have None of That, and he pulled the Alligator's hands away from its Face. George Washington made the Alligator watch the Gore from the Deck of the Ship.

GEORGE Washington: Look, dear Alligator,

At the Gory Innards

Of our Friend, the Whale.

See, the Water itself

Has Turned Red, and is Soaked

With Guts and Garbage.

This is a Glorious Day.

It is Very Much like

The Reflection of the

Sunset on the Water

Of the Lake. Only a Fool

Would not Gladly

Swim in such a Soup.

But we Have Work to do,

And you have not brought

Your Swimming Trunks, Damn

You. So Lettuce be About

Our Business.

CHERRY TREE

George Washington smoked a Cigar and visited the Grassy Knoll in Manigold Farm. The Farm lay Focused on some Gentle rolling Hills. There was a Stone House, a Barn, a Pond, and a Necessary. There were Fields of Urinal Soap. There was some Livestock and a Farmer's Wife. George Washington went into a nearby storage shed. George Washington met General Montgomery inside the Toolshed. General Montgomery had Toilet Paper wrapped around his Head. General Montgomery smoked a Cigarette with George Washington. General Montgomery told many Lies with the Toilet Paper around his Head. George Washington procured a Hatchet from the storage Shed. "Damn it, Hatchet," George Washington said. George Washington then brought the hatchet with him to Father Washington's small Cherry tree Orchard. George Washington found a perfect Cherry tree. He chopped it down with his Hatchet. George Washington knocked two big Rectangles out of the trunk of the Tree. George Washington notched the rectangles and made them very Sharp. He stuck the rectangles in his Mouth. George Washington tested his Teeth on a Cherry. The teeth were successful. A tall man came to the felled Tree. He carried a great Axe on his shoulder. He wore a top hat. He had a Shaggy Beard on his face. There was a large brown Mole above his Lip. Abraham Lincoln looked down at George Washington. Abraham Lincoln had a Folded face. Abraham Lincoln had a furled Brow. Abraham Lincoln wanted to chop up the rest of the Cherry tree for firewood. "I would that Wood you would make good use of," George Washington said. Abraham Lincoln thanked George Washington. George Washington left him there. George Washington was very happy with his Teeth. He chomped them at the Air as he walked back toward the House.

GUTTER BALL

George Washington went to the Bowling Alley. George Washington Bowled with Paul Revere's Head. Paul Revere came out from the Video Arcade that was at the Bowling Alley. Paul Revere had been Playing a Pinball Machine called Fill My Grail. Paul Revere chased after his Head when George Washington bowled with it, and though George Washington rolled a Gutter ball, Paul Revere slipped and knocked over all of the Pins for George Washington, and this Pleased George Washington very Much. Then George Washington brought Paul Revere with him to the Boogansville Dairy House. How Now Brown Cow was there. She had purchased a Soft Serve Cone from the Wolfman. The Wolfman stood behind the Counter with a Paper Hat on its Head. The Wolfman was on a Secret Mission for George Washington. Henry Knox came out of the Bathroom carrying an Ashtray. Henry Knox had no Money. He asked George Washington to take Pity on him and buy him an Ice Cream Cone. George Washington purchased an Ice Cream Cone for Paul Revere. He stuck it in the Top of his Neck. Paul Revere stormed out Angrily. Then George Washington purchased an Ice Cream Cone for Henry Knox. Henry Knox began to cry when the Ice Cream fell from his Cone. He made George Washington buy him another one. George Washington looked at the Ice Cream on the Floor. There was a Message in it. George Washington read the Message. It told George Washington where his Brain was. George Washington was Pleased. He Decided to Distract himself for Awhile. George Washington opened his Coloring Book and showed it to Henry Knox. George Washington had worked very hard on the Coloring Book. Henry Knox was Deeply Impressed and Wished he could Color as Well as George Washington did. Then George Washington visited the Camp of the Boogansville Army. Everyone was Freezing Cold. George Washington saw Paul Revere talking to General Wooster in the Camp. All General Wooster wanted to do was get that Ice Cream Cone from the top of Paul Revere's Neck. He Stuck his Finger in the Ice Cream. Paul Revere saw George Washington. Paul Revere came to George Washington and he demanded the Speedy Return of his Head. George Washington carried Paul Revere's Head under his Arm. George Washington dumped Gasoline all over Paul Revere and Lit him on Fire. He wanted to Warm the Hearts of his Friends. George Washington had learned this Trick from the Native Man. It didn't go over Well here. George Washington drank some Coffee. George Washington decided he should try it again Later.

Then George Washington forced the Alligator to walk on its Hind Legs everywhere. Governour Guzzle Guts was somewhere on board the Ship. He had been up all night, Swashbuckling. The Atrocities which Governour Guzzle Guts had Lately Committed were of the Most Profound nature. Governour Guzzle Guts had used the Ship to Block any Vessels from using Joe's Fishing Dock. This had upset Joe very much, because Joe had wanted to go Fishing with his Nephew that day. Governour Guzzle Guts had also lately Urinated from the Stern of his Ship onto a Piece of Algae. The Algae had been Minding its Own Business. Governour Guzzle Guts had a Commendable Aim and there was Strength in his Stream. But the Algae would Never Forgive him for it. The Algae had Never wanted to take a Bath Before. Now it did. "It was worse than Birdshit," the Algae said to George Washington when George Washington discovered it in the Captain's Quarters.

THE ALGAE: I have Never Wanted

To take a Bath Before.

But when the Governour

Guzzle Guts Urinated

On Me, it was Worse

Than the Time I was Shat Upon

By a Pelican.

The Captain of the Ship himself was Strapped to a Metal Table. He was Greenish in Color and of Excessively Large Proportions. His head was Flat on Top. He was hooked up to Some Electrical Equipment. The Alligator turned it all on when George Washington left the Room. A Lightning Bolt then Struck the Mainmast of the Ship and sent a Bright Wave of Electricity down it. The Ship's Captain woke up and broke free from the Metal Table. He Found George Washington and challenged him to a Pissing Contest. George Washington won the Pissing Contest because the Captain's stream was weak and thick. This gave George Washington great confidence. The Piece of Algae told George Washington then about a Pissing Contest which was going to be held in Illinois. George Washington was excited by this and he stepped from the Inflatable Kiddy Pool which was the Chesapeake Bay.

SUN PLATE

The Sun went down. It had been a Hot and humid Day. General Eisenhower had said it would be Hot in his Weather Report on Television that morning. George Washington found a Room underneath the Churchyard, in which there was a Cake. A birthday Party was being had. George Washington Partook of some of the Cake. It was Andrew Jackson's Birthday party. Andy Jackson's Foot was Bandaged because it had been Chewed on. George Washington had not brought him any Presents. George Washington washed the Dishes after the Birthday Party. George Washington washed the Cake Platter. When he Wiped away the crumbs from the Cake Platter, George Washington Discovered that the Sun lived on the Cake Platter. It spent its Evenings there. The Sun found it very Comfortable to sit on a Cake Platter, because it was Flat and Circular. George Washington did not Consider this to be a Proper Place for the Sun, so he Chastised the Sun, and he scrubbed it off with a piece of Sandpaper. Chief Justice Jack Mitchell considered the Situation with his Milk moustache. He decided the Bug Zapper on his Front Porch should Serve as the New Sun. This Was done. Jack Mitchell went straight home and Switched it on. The light in Boogansville County was a Bit more Harsh now, but that was Okay. Jack Mitchell was Blue under the Bug Zapper. General Wooster stopped at Jack Mitchell's place. He told Jack Mitchell he looked Good. They sat Together under the Bug Zapper for awhile on the Porch.

CUNNILINGULO THE CONQUISTADOR

The Mule slept with a Cactus at night. Optimus Sloppypusopotamus climbed from a Trash Can under the full moon. When Sloppypusopotamus came to the Mule, he took away all of its Money. Sloppypusopotamus lay down beside the Mule under the Stars. A Tumbleweed got stuck in the Cactus. Optimus Sloppypusopotamus found a Piece of Cunnilingulo the Conquistador inside the Tumbleweed. The Tumbleweed was on Vacation. Optimus Sloppypusopotamus brought this Piece of Cunnilingulo the Conquistador to George Washington. George Washington brought Sloppypusopotamus with him to the Boogansville Cemetery. He forced Sloppypusopotamus to Dig. A Box was discovered 6 feet below the Surface of the Cemetery. Sloppypusopotamus brought it above Ground. George Washington was so excited he did rip it apart with his Bare hands. His Horse, Old Nelson, stood by and Whinnied its approval. George Washington lifted out the Body like a fresh born Baby in his Hands. It was as if Hot from the Oven. It had Rotten Eyelids. Its Rotten Face came to Life in George Washington's Arms. "I am Cunnilingulo the Conquistador, and I am Hungry," it said, "Go into my Casket and bring me my Tuna fish Sandwiches." This was done and this pleased Cunnilingulo very much. Then the Storm came. Lincoln Logs Fell from the Sky. The Lincoln Logs hurt. Abraham Lincoln was near.

EASTER EGG

Sam Adams came over. He searched for Paul Revere's Head in the Backyard. But all Sam Adams found were Plastic Easter Eggs. Sam Adams found Loose change in some of the Easter Eggs, but in One, which was Excessively Large, he Discovered a Big Fat Man from China. He had come to Boogansville in the egg. The Big Fat Man split his Last Beer with Sam Adams and then discovered the dog next Door. The Dog lay on a towel Tanning under the Bug Zapper, which had been Switched on now. The Big Fat Man came into the Neighbor's Yard to Pet the Dog. The Dog lay on its Back for the Big Fat Man. General Wooster saw the Fat Man with the Dog in his Backyard from the Window of his House. The Dog Howled and Moaned, and it had Drool coming from its Mouth. General Wooster considered the dog to be his own Wife. General Wooster turned the water Hose on the dog and the Big Fat Man from China. This so Upset the Big Fat Man from China, that he Smashed through General Wooster's House and treated the Place like a Small cardboard Box. Then the Big Fat Man from China ate every Dog in the Neighborhood, including General Wooster's Wife. Raw. General Wooster climbed an Oak tree to Save himself. There General Wooster was forced to make Love to a Bald Eagle or be Fed to its Young. General Wooster could see George Washington from the Treetop while he Fucked the Balled Eagle. George Washington was next door. George Washington had his Rake. He had been Following the Patriotic Pig around the Yard. George Washington discovered Richard Flex eating Cabbage in the Garden. George Washington put down the Rake and Squirted Richard Flex with the Water Hose, and Richard Flex ran off and Hid in the shadow of the Shed because of this. General Wooster went and Found George Washington in Tom Jafferson's Yard when he got the Chance. George Washington knew exactly what to Do. George Washington came Away with General Wooster. They Found the Big Fat Man from China asleep in General Wooster's Bed. George Washington unzipped the Big Fat Man from China's Belly. A Whole Lot of flowers Popped out. George Washington picked all of the Flowers and placed them in his Basket. Then George Washington came away to Plant them in his Garden. And Certainly, it was not Long before Richard Flex was out there again, Munching on the Flowers which George Washington had Taken from the Belly of the Big Fat Man from China. The Flowers Smelled good like General Tso's Chicken. George Washington had also Discovered Paul Revere's Head in the Fat Man from China's Big Belly. But George Washington made General Wooster promise not to Tell anyone. George Washington wrapped Paul Revere's Head in Toilet Paper and used it as a Coffee Thermos. Also there was a Schwinn Bicycle. He found that, too, in the Big Fat Man from China's Belly. General Wooster cried when he saw the Bald Eagle looking down at him and George Washington from the Treetop. George Washington thanked the Bald Eagle for making General Wooster Pregnant.

THE ILLINOIS PISSING CONTEST

George Washington went Directly to the Illinois Pissing Contest, which was being held in the Backyard, over by the Grill. There were Hamburgers on the Grill. General Wooster was there. The Illinois Pissing Contest was his Idea. George Washington talked Shit before the Contest Began. Then he Proclaimed himself the Winner and accused Everyone Else of Cheating. George Washington said he would have Chief Justice Jack Mitchell issue them all Fines for Contempt when his Stream Faded. Jack Mitchell came over then. He wore How Now Brown Cow's Skin and Pretended that he was not Jack Mitchell. General Wooster did well in the Illinois Pissing Contest. He thought it was all Wonderful and he left then to get a Coke from the Coke Machine, and to join the Main American Army. The Main American Army was in Boogansville. George Washington had sent them there. George Washington helped his Friend, Ernest Hemingway, get Piss-Roaring Drunk after the Illinois Pissing Contest. Ernest Hemingway had lost the Contest to George Washington and therefore was very Upset about it. Ernest's stream was Not as Mighty as it had once been. Therefore, George Washington helped Ernest blow his Head off later in the Day. Ernest was very Thankful to George Washington then, and George Washington explained it was no Big Deal. Mrs. Biosphere presented George Washington with a Trophy. She congratulated him for Winning the Pissing Contest. Time had given her Wrinkles. She had sent her Science Class on a Field Trip to Hell so she could attend the Pissing Contest. The Wolfman met the Science Class Children in Hell.

RHINO DENTISTRY

George Washington had stayed up all night in his Tent at Jack Mitchell's House, and he was Very Tired now. But he did not Care. He drank a Jar of Applesauce and set about his Work. The Chicken-Pire lived in the Jar of Applesauce, and inside George Washington's Belly it met the Goldfish that Lived in Pee. They went Swimming Together and this Caused George Washington to Urinate Frequently while he Operated on the Rhinoceros. George Washington's Dental Work was Constantly Interrupted. All the Locals understood George Washington's Stream was Mighty, but they Became Indignant when George Washington kept Peeing, because they thought he was getting Carried away with trying to Impress Everyone. Chief Justice Jack Mitchell didn't like this One Bit, and he slapt a Fine for Contempt on George Washington. But the Chicken-Pire kept Sloshing around. They were having too much fun, and the Flower in the flower Pot got wet wet wet. The Rhino was not Pleased because George Washington refused to use Novocaine. George Washington jammed his Tools in the Rhinoceros's Head every time he got up to Pee. The Flower Pot got wet wet wet. Sometimes, George Washington stuck the Sharper Objects, such as the Screwdriver etcetera, in the Rhino's Gums. At other Times he stuck them in its Tongue or wherever; sometimes George Washington Just Jabbed it in the Leathery Skin of the Rhino's Face when he had to Pee, because George Washington had to Pee so Much. George Washington had to Pee once, so he Jammed the Whole chainsaw he was using at the Time in the Rhino's Mouth. He Jammed the Screwdriver in the Rhino's head when he was not Scraping off Enamel with it.

GEORGE WASHINGTON: God Damn!

This God Damn

Enamel is the Problem,

God Damn it.

A Bird stood on the Rhino's Big Horn and Watched George Washington work and Go Pee. The Bird video Taped the Entire Procedure through its Eyes. George Washington covered his Face with Toothpaste to show his Goodwill toward Dentistry. George Washington Stood up to go Pee and Three pale men with long Beards, all covered in flattened tin Cans, with blankets tied around their Necks did accost George Washington from a Trash Can Alley. The Three Wise Men spoke to George Washington.

THREE WISE MEN: Worthy Man!

SCRATCHING THE PIG

Dracula found George Washington in the Yard. George Washington was Scratching the Pig with his Rake. George Washington showed Dracula how to do it. Dracula enjoyed this very much. George Washington asked Dracula if he knew where the Urinal Soap Chicken was. Dracula said that he did not know. Dracula continued to scratch the Pig with the Rake. The blood of the Urinal Soap Chicken Screamed out from the Earth a few feet from the Pig Pen. George Washington ordered the Ground be dug up in that Area. A little Red Tricycle was discovered a Few feet below the Surface. It said its name was General Lee. It was covered in the Blood of the Urinal Soap Chicken. The Little Red Tricycle led George Washington over to a Barn, where Christopher Marlowe, the Elizabethan Playwright, was kept. George Washington convinced Christopher Marlowe to help him Assassinate Abraham Lincoln. They went Fishing together. George Washington hooked an English Teacher from the Pond. He dragged her up from the Water and she Flopped around for some time. George Washington calmed her down and stroked her long Wet hair. After she introduced herself, and looked at George with mild Embarrassment, she asked if he would like to run for President. Because George Washington had a Crush on her, he volunteered to run for President. His English Teacher smiled at him. George Washington went to School with her. George Washington gave a Speech in the Gymnasium. His beloved English teacher clapped for George Washington and pulled off her shirt showing that she had no Bra underneath because he drove her so Wild. In his Speech, George Washington said, "God Damn it; Fuck. Shit," and many other Swear Words. The Definition of each Swear Word was Read Out Loud by an Obnoxious honking Mule. The Mule had survived the Mexican-American War.

SPLIT A BEER

Richard Flex had been Travelling underground. Boogansville County had a Pretty Large Basement. In it there were all sorts of Used Furniture and the Like. There were old Pictures and Coloring Books which had been Poorly Colored and Not worth Keeping. There was a Deflated Kitty Pool. Some things were dustier than Others. There were a Great Number of Dead Bodies under Fred Flintstone's House. And there was the Snout of the Patriotic Pig, which reached below the surface of the Earth, Sniffing up some Newsworthy Intelligence. Richard Flex saw fit to Stuff some Rags up the Nose of the Patriotic Pig. He did so, after Dipping them in Kerosene. This caused the Patriotic Pig some difficulty of Course, and it had to take a Break from its Work. The Patriotic Pig got up on its Hind Legs and Staggered in Search of the Garden Hose. Some of the Kerosene had gotten into the Patriotic Pig's Eyes and had Blinded him. The Soaked Rags hung Low out its Nose and Dripped onto the Cigarette which the Pig had Been Smoking. This was Not good, and the Patriotic Pig's Nose grew very hot when the Rags burst on Fire. And the Pig was Watched by Tom Jafferson, as it Staggered about the Yard in Boogansville, its Face all aflame. Tom Jafferson was Uncertain Exactly what he should do. He considered getting up and Breaking a Bottle of Whiskey on the Pig's Head, but his Thoughts were Generally Useless in that they were Half-Developed, and he was Too Lazy to Act on them anyhow. Tom Jafferson had married the Wolfman. She growled at him when he tried to lie down in Bed with her. Tom Jafferson drank Whiskey on the Porch. He sat there in his Sweat-Yellowed Wife Beater Shirt. The Whiskey came with him to the Retention Pond on the Weekends. They went Fishing there. Tom Jafferson used his Dentures for Bait. He always caught the Big Mouthed Bass. There had been Fish for Dinner the Night Before. It was Delicious. Tom Jafferson had been Shot in the Head back when he was Fifteen. It had been an Accident; he was Alright. The Roof of Tom Jafferson's House was made of Tin, which Baked in the Sun. A UFO crashed on it and Slid off onto the Porch. The Wolfman came out of the UFO and split a Beer with Tom Jafferson. The Wolfman wanted to use her special Drinking Straw, which was made for 2 People to Use at Once, but Tom Jafferson would have none of that. He Preferred to Pass the Beer Back and forth. He got angry when the Wolfman gulped more than what he considered to be her Fair Share. The Wolfman asked Tom Jafferson if she could Borrow his Television Set and Washing Board. Tom Jafferson refused to Let her have the TV, but he said she could take the Washing Board whenever she chose to. He did warn her the Washboard liked to bite his Hand off Every Time he Used it. The Wolfman Groaned at Tom Jafferson and Pulled out Some of her Hair. The Wolfman went in to get the Washboard, Yellow Eyed. The Wolfman shed all over Tom Jafferson's House. She took the Washboard and the TV, too. The Wolfman Ripped its Plug right out of the Wall. Then the Wolfman made Coffee and Smoked Mores in the Kitchen with its Mother-In-Law. Tom Jafferson, meanwhile, had stepped into the Yard to Pet his Horse that had no Head. The Wolfman got on Board its UFO then with the Washboard, the TV, and the Coffeemaker and Flew away.

Brave Washington!

GEORGE WASHINGTON: I have to pee.

George Washington stood up and went over to the Broom Closet and shut the door behind himself. And there the Flower in its Flowerpot, which was dripping wet and Angry, had become Impatient with George Washington. George Washington had Promised to fit her for a Set of Braces. George Washington fit them well, but he Preferred to do it in the Dark.

GEORGE Washington: Just hold Still,
I Understand your Excitement
But I am Almost Finished.

And George Washington wet all over the Flower in the Flowerpot. The Flower voiced Concern about this.

GEORGE Washington: But Rusty Goes
Where he Wants to Go.

When the Flower Complained to George Washington later that the Braces did not fit right, he threatened to feed her to the Cat.

MARRIAGE

General Wooster found Richard Flex in front of the Broom Closet and asked Richard Flex to marry him. Richard Flex agreed, and they were married. But General Montgomery stood up during the ceremony and said that it was not fair, because he and General Wooster had been married the night before. Semen White stood up and said that he was the one who should get to marry General Wooster, because General Wooster had proposed to him that morning. Richard Flex was deeply upset by this, and he called the wedding off and refused to speak to General Wooster again. "O, come on now! I only did it because you are all Brothers to me!" General Wooster said with a tear in his eye, "I really want to marry George Washington!" Richard Flex then felt sorry for the General, and they were friends again. Richard Flex felt Dirty. Richard Flex filled the Bathtub with Hot water. He sat in the Hot water and played with the Bubbles. Richard Flex was taken Prisoner by a Small Plastic Pirate Ship, called the Shrieking Shark. The Wet Scourge, who commanded the Pirate Ship, made a proposal to him. Richard Flex was to keep his cabin clean, boil his teakettle, and polish his boots. In return, Richard Flex would be allowed to go swimming with a rope tied around his neck in the water of the Bathtub. Richard Flex went into the Wet Scourge's cabin and fluffed his pillows. He boiled some tea. The Wet Scourge came in and sat down at his Table. He unfolded his Maps and Drank some of the Tea. "Aargh—This Tea is God Damn delicious!" he told Richard Flex. The Wet Scourge directed his Shrieking Shark then to the Soap Dish. "X marks the Spot!" he said. The Wet Scourge stood on the Bar of Soap. He dropped to his Knees and Prayed. The Wet Scourge let Richard Flex help him Dig for Treasure. They did not find any. The Wet Scourge was very angry now, and he Marooned Richard Flex on the Bar of Soap. The Wet Scourge told Richard Flex as he sailed away that if he Ever saw him Again, he would Chop off his Head and Flush it down the Toilet. Richard Flex was Sad about this for awhile, but then he got out of the Bathtub. Dracula came in to take a Pee while Richard Flex was toweling Off. Dracula was very Mad at himself because of this. Dracula flushed Richard Flex's Head in the Toilet a few Times. This made Dracula feel Better.

COMMANDERING CHEF

Chief Justice Jack Mitchell demanded to know where George Washington was. It was said that George Washington was away, somewhere, Jacking off in a World War I Trench, with Bombs falling all around him. George Washington Ejaculated a fountain of Pure filth into the Air, and it Landed in the Dirt. Some of it got on the Helmet of a German Infantry boy, who came from his Trench, because he found a Butterfly with a Bear Head, which he Wished to touch. When George Washington got back he was made Commanding Chef of the Boogansville Army. His coat was Painted Blue and Yellow as was his Car. George Washington set up Cannons across the Countryside. The Boogansville Cannons had come from Fort Ticonderoga to Aid the American Cause. George Washington found one of the Cannons lying Drunk in a Boogansville Ditch. He Yelled at it. The Cannons wandered Aimlessly about the Boogansville Countryside when they were left alone by the Americans. George Washington hung out in his Tent and Scribbled carelessly on a Map in front of his Friends. George Washington explained he was Preparing the Plan of Attack. George Washington's fellow Officers pretended to be Very impressed when George Washington showed it to them. George Washington had drawn a Big Daffodil with Petals on the Map. It was very Simple, he Explained, and he told Everyone to "Go to it." The Officers were Vexed, but George Washington refused further Explanation. At the Center of the Flower was Boogansville. George Washington voiced a Private Concern. He was upset because some one or Thing had Stolen a Brain from his Cabinet, and it had been one of his Favorites. He yelled at Everyone. Then he asked where Richard Flex was.

HELL

The Wolfman had gone to Hell to find the Big Blue Mint Eater. Hell was also known as Greater Boogansville County. The Big Blue Mint Eater had fallen in love with the Kitty Cat it had Impregnated. But the Kitty Cat was no Longer allowed to see the Big Blue Mint Eater. So the Cat had run away to Hell. The Big Blue Mint Eater had chased her all the Way There. The Wolfman told the Children to keep their Eyes Peeled. The Big Blue Mint Eater chased the Kitty Cat up the Stairs in Hell. Dracula was at the top of the Stairs. The Big Blue Mint Eater crashed into some Furniture as it chased the Kitty Cat. The Kitty Cat leapt through a Window. The Window shattered. All of Greater Boogansville County could be seen through the Window. The Big Blue Mint Eater followed the Cat with its arms extended. The Big Blue Mint Eater knocked a giant hole in the Wall because it could not Fit through the Window. The Big Blue Mint Eater died when it hit the ground of Boogansville County. All the Children were there. The Big Blue Mint Eater had a Squirting alarm Clock in its head. The Big Blue Mint Eater's squirting Alarm Clock went off and a Spray of Pink Lemonade shot into the Sky from its head. The Children danced with the Wolfman in the Lemonade. Then Dracula came over and Stuck his Big Fork in the Big Blue Mint Eater's Head. He did not like to see the Children have Fun. The Wolfman found a Can of Asparagus in the Big Blue Mint Eater's Belly. Dracula opened the Can of Asparagus. A Great Flowery light sprouted from the Can of Asparagus. It was an Edifying Experience. Dracula broke down and wept because he needed an Oil Change. All of the Children took pity on him. But a Storm was coming. It was seen over the Bay. It was Dark red and Violent. Blood was in the Breeze. The Whore of Boogansville was heard to Scream from a Great Distance. It was a Shrill Alarm. The Children were evacuated by the Schoolbus, which cared for them. There was nothing for it and there was a Great amount of Gore. George Washington burned down a Necessary House in this Time of Crisis. And George Washington took a Live Calf and Chopped its Head off and threw it in the fire. George Washington was made very happy when a Bunny Rabbit hopped out of the Calf's body with a Bowl of Salad in its Kangaroo Pocket. George Washington gave the Bowl of Salad to the UFO, which came from the Forest when it saw the Burning Necessary House. In Return for the Bowl of Salad, the UFO allowed George Washington the use of itself. George Washington piled what Good Americans he had up into the UFO. They Flew to Mars.

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS

General Wooster proceeded down the Riverbank. He met Christopher Columbus. He was busy pulling Meat from the Speedboat's Engine Blades. General Wooster stopped his Sherman Tank momentarily for Christopher Columbus and asked if he could help in any way.

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS: I Fear

There is not Much which can be Done.

I have Lost my Shit on the Shore.

Still, General Wooster wanted to help Christopher Columbus, so he chopped down an Oak Tree with his Chainsaw. The Oak Tree screamed and Cried in the dirt. General Wooster took some Twigs from the Oak Tree and Built a Small fire. He cooked the Meat, which Christopher Columbus had been pulling from his Speedboat Engine. General Wooster and Christopher Columbus ate the Meat together. Then they Smoked a Cigarette. They decided to Go Swimming. Christopher Columbus was deeply Impressed with the Fake Beard which hung over General Wooster's Privates. They climbed an Oak Tree Together, and General Wooster grabbed Christopher Columbus and threw him into the River. Christopher Columbus was Eaten then by a Manatee which had a huge Bandage on its Head. Christopher Columbus struggled for a Long Time against the Manatee. The Manatee's Teeth were very flat and like Molars. But the Manatee got the Best of Christopher Columbus. General Wooster gave the Manatee a Twinkly when it had Bested Christopher Columbus. The Manatee wore a Wife Beater Shirt stained with Sweat. The Manatee Sat with General Wooster on the shore for a While and Baked in the Sun like a Turd. Christopher Columbus found buried Treasure inside the Manatee. After he was fully Digested and Shat Out, Christopher Columbus showed the Buried treasure to a Shellfish that lived at the Bottom of Boogansville River. Christopher Columbus lived then inside the Shellfish. The Shellfish accepted some of the Treasure every Month as Rent. The Shellfish spent most of its Time wiping Snail Slime on itself. It loved the Shit of the Seahorse. But Christopher Columbus did not Care much for it.

MARS

Mars had an Ice Cream Cone for a President and it spoke with George Washington in its Martian Palace. "God Damn, it's Cold in here," said George Washington, "Could you turn up the Heat?" The Martian President was happy to Oblige and it then Began to Melt in front of George Washington. George Washington was not Impressed by this. The Good Americans with the Martians decided to drop a Bomb on Pluto. A Secret Martian Agent, called Nathan Hale, had discovered that Pluto was the Enemy Headquarters. Pluto was a Broom Closet in an Old Wooden House in Westchester County, which was Downstairs. The Wolfman flew the Good Americans in his Frig Pig to the Place. They landed and everyone Got Out. George Washington stepped inside the Broom Closet first. He carried a Wiffle Bat. It was Dark. General Wooster had a Flashlight. They found the Garbage Sack Unicorn all tied up within the Broom Closet. There was a Vacuum cleaner beside it. How Now Brown Cow came in from the Kitchen and Demanded to know what was going on. George Washington ordered her tied to a Rocking Chair on the Front Porch. How Now Brown Cow was very upset about it. George Washington Stuck a Trash Bag full of Trash onto the Garbage Sack Unicorn's Horn and set it Free. The Garbage Sack Unicorn ran gay through the Fields. Then George Washington ordered his Friend, Richard Flex, to Drop a Bomb in the Broom Closet. Richard Flex did so. The Wolfman recorded it on Video Tape. The Wolfman was Pleased. The Wolfman gave Richard Flex some Toilet Paper and went back to Mars with the Video Tape. George Washington sat outside with How Now Brown Cow. They Chatted. How Now Brown Cow explained to George Washington that she was Upset because he had chopped her up when she was but a Calf and had thrown her into a Burning Necessary House. She Moo'd at him about it. George Washington made no Apology and said that he had done it out of Necessity. George Washington said that the Whole thing was "Just Fun & Games anyhow," and he slapped her on her Rawhide Back. Then he sent her out to Fetch him a Glass of Milk. George Washington told How Now Brown Cow that if she did not find him a Glass of Milk—that she would be, "An Enemy to Our Cause; and suffer the Like Treatment as her Friend the Calf, 2ice over." How Now Brown Cow then taught George Washington a Lesson in Milking. General Wooster saw this—and averted his eyes.
